

Faculty Recital Friday To Feature Instructor

Performing at the piano, El Camino College instructor June Lusk Nelson will interpret selections from Mozart, Chopin, Schubert, and Scriabin Friday in a faculty recital at 8:30 in the college Campus Theater.

Mrs. Nelson has presented annual piano concerts at El Camino College for the past five years.

It was while attending the University of Southern California last summer that Mrs. Nelson made the change in her name and added the "Mrs." and "Nelson" to June Lusk.

ALTHOUGH SHE has performed on television and has had her music broadcast on radio, Mrs. Nelson remarked that her most rewarding experience in music was when she won a trip to Cologne, Germany.

While in Germany, the pianist spent her time touring and studying as an exchange student.

Admission will be free, with the public invited to attend the annual college musical feature, college officials said.

Big Tiny Little Opens At Marineland Tonight

One of the most captivating shows to ever entertain at Marineland Restaurant, "Big Tiny Little and his hot-noted quintet, opens tonight in a return engagement at the dining establishment on Palos Verdes Peninsula.

The honky-tonk pianist and his all-star sidemen, featuring barrel-house songstress Josephine, will present "the happiest music in America from the roaring '20s to the soaring '60s," playing the infectious kind of ragtime numbers that make audiences stand up and applaud.

ACCLAIMED the greatest thing that ever happened to a piano, Little has recorded many popular albums and starred on his own musical TV show. He came to Marineland Restaurant direct from a guest-starring appearance on the "Dinah Shore Show." Once a regular on the "Lawrence Welk Show," where he was dubbed "Mr. Honky Tonk," Little is often compared to the late Fats Waller and his "stride" school of piano.

Audiences took to the keyboard entertainer during previous engagements, and loyal fans already have started to make reservations to welcome him back to the "Porpoise Room." He is a crowd-pleaser for all groups — not just those to whom ragtime music echoes a nostalgic past. Little and his wild five-piece band will be on tap at Marineland Restaurant nightly except Mondays.

Writer to Discuss Russia-China Duel

Harrison Salisbury, who was barred from the Soviet Union for five years for a series of articles on conditions in Russia which won him a Pulitzer Prize, will appear on the Marymount College lecture series on Monday.

He will speak on "The Coming Conflict Between Russia and China," describing the signs of conflict between these two giant Communist states. His personal observations point out the fact that Russia fears its 212 million people cannot match China's teeming millions, and that a new alignment of world powers lies ahead.

SALISBURY JOINED the staff of the New York Times in 1949 and was assigned to Moscow as its correspondent. There he remained for five years, the longest term of service of any correspondent except one of his predecessors, Walter Duranty.

In 1953 he embarked on a trip to Soviet Central Asia, visiting many forbidden areas, and has traveled more extensively in the Soviet Union than any other correspondent except Duranty. Soon after his return to the United States, he wrote a series of penetrating articles called "Russia Re-Viewed," which won him the Pulitzer Prize in 1954.

HE ACCOMPANIED Richard M. Nixon through Russia and President Eisenhower across the Pacific and the fringes of Asia, and he has talked with all Soviet leaders, past and present, including Khrushchev, Mikoyan, Kozlov, and Suslov. A series of articles on a trip to all Iron Curtain countries won him additional awards in 1958.

He is the author of "America in Russia" and "To Moscow — and Beyond," and was chosen by the New York Times to accompany Khrushchev on his visit to the United States. He has just completed investigations-in-depth of adolescent delinquency and of the modern South.

His lecture will begin at 8 p.m. in the Student-Faculty Center on the Palos Verdes Estates campus.
